

As a truckdriver, I pay my hard-earned money to be able to get up to date traffic and weather reports 24 hrs a day. Broadcast radio does not provide this service at anytime other than during rush hour. When they start doing this on a 24 hr basis in every market, then I might consider supporting the decision to prevent satellite services from providing this information. Of course, seeing as how I choose to pay for the service, I don't think it is the governments business to decide whether or not it should be available to me...
